Glossary

Glossary

Buying List

A list of items to be discussed with a customer or group of customers. This list can be up to 999 panels long and there are up to twelve items on each panel. During the order taking process a panel of the buying list may be displayed directly on entering its number.

Call List

The list of calls due to be made for which the system has pre-generated the list of items and the order history.

Call Management

A facility to view the work load of all operators and to redistribute it to match resources.

Call Profile

A definition of a call to be made to a customer to include the customer contact, operator, buying list, type of call and the frequency and timing of the call.

Customer Contact

The details of the contact for the customer including internal telephone number, job title and supporting text.

Delivery Profiles

A definition of the acceptable times for delivery, delivery area and contact information.

Freeloader

A special form of promotion that allows an Award Item to be given away Free of Charge when the appropriate quantity for qualifying items is ordered.

Item Family

When the average sales per week is calculated for planned delivery a number of items can be grouped together. This is to allow for promotion of substituted items.

Loyalty Scheme

A variation of the Freeloader type of promotion, where the Award Items offered are points or tokens collected towards discount or gift special offers.

Operator Profile

A definition of the authority and skill level of the operator. When an operator elects to make outgoing calls this profile is used to prepare and present the list of calls to be made.

Planned Delivery

A style of telesales where the customer gives the current stock level. The application suggests the size of the order necessary to cover the period of time until the next order.

Promotion

An item may be flagged as being promoted. The promotion may be restricted to customers, customer groups, sales areas and regions. A promotion may be used to substitute one item for another or to offer Award Items in return for ordering certain qualifying items. Otherwise it is for information only.

Sales Prompts

At the top left of the order taking panels a series of messages are displayed. These are to continually remind the operator of key points.

Telemarketing

Telemarketing enables the operator to view the available buying list and select the most appropriate for discussion with the customer.

Telesales

Making a pre-arranged call to a customer to discuss a pre-defined list of items and to take an expected order.
